

Miami Workers Center Gender Justice Summer Internship

Join the fight against inequality, poverty, racism, and sexism in the South! Unese a la lucha contra la desigualdad, pobreza, racismo, y sexismo en el Sur! Miami Workers Center (MWC) is recruiting interns for gender justice community organizing organizing. If you are interested, please contact Jennifer Hill with a resume and brief cover letter at jhill@theworkerscenter.org.

Miami Workers Center (MWC) is Miami's leading social change nonprofit organization that fights for social, racial, economic, and gender justice in Miami, Florida. We work to unite and build the power of low-income Latinos and African-Americans from some of the most vulnerable neighborhoods of Miami, such as Liberty City, Wynwood, Allapattah, Little Haiti, and Little Havana. We fight for good paying jobs, affordable housing, immigrant rights, and the protection of domestic workers and victims of domestic violence and sexual abuse. We are engaged specifically in programs to document and combat human trafficking and to increase the voices of women in policy advocacy.

Recently, we created the Femme Agenda, a set of sociopolitical spaces fashioned after the long and rich history of movement work such as the Civil Rights Movement, The Women's Movement, The Black Panthers, and the anti-War movement, etc. These movements used political education to help individuals become more conscious. As 21st century movements become more sophisticated, consciousness-raising has not become archaic. On the contrary, we believe that it has become more vitally necessary, and we are looking for organizers and interns who can participate in and contribute to the Femme Agenda program.

The Gender Justice Intern will work with organizers, lawyers, and other staff in activities that will include several of the following:

- helping strengthen a base of Domestic Workers,
- investigating, documenting, and advocacy in cases of labor abuses and human trafficking, to mobilize for demonstrations,
- carrying out community-based surveys and outreach,
- helping develop youth leaders and political support for a comprehensive sex education policy for youth in Miami-Dade schools;
- promoting women's voices in healthcare policy debates related to Medicaid and ACA changes and coverage; and/or
- helping lead grassroots discussions to develop and deepen our intersectional understanding of issues affecting economic justice.

Bilingual competence in English and Spanish and/or Haitian Kreyol is a plus.

Equal employment opportunity and having a diverse staff and volunteer corps are fundamental commitments at Miami Workers Center. Individuals from all backgrounds are encouraged to apply, including persons with disabilities and veterans.