

CMM and partners present:

The NEW COLLEGE-AGE Interfaith Youth Initiative (IFYI) 2011 Summer Program

Sunday July 10 to Sunday July 17, 2011
Brandeis University, Waltham, MA

Cross
Borders!

Build Bridges!

Do Justice!
Be Peace!

Grow as a leader!

Building the World House

IFYI is a unique experience in youth empowerment, leadership development, interfaith theological education and peacemaker training. Participants of diverse religious backgrounds come together for a joyful and intensive overnight immersion program that includes community building, workshops, arts projects, service and social action experiences, field trips, theological dialogue, and much more! The program takes place over eight days in the summer followed by mentoring and gatherings during the academic year.

IFYI 2011 has a brand new track for college students! At the IFYI summer college program (run parallel to the IFYI program for teens), we will interpret our spiritual visions of justice and peace, while living out Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s "Beloved Community" in the 21st century.

Men and women are housed in separate staffed areas on campus, and if desired, students may commute from home. Religious and dietary needs will be accommodated.

Never has there been a greater need for young people to understand each other's cultures and faiths and to work together for the common good. From the streets and schools of American cities to the crises we confront overseas, our globe cries out for a new vision of peace and justice, grounded in the wisdom of our great faith traditions and the dreams of our youth. Come, offer your leadership and vision, together with the most amazing people you will ever meet.

For more information and an application, contact Alexander Levering Kern or Matt Carriker at:
Cooperative Metropolitan Ministries, Interfaith Youth Initiative
474 Centre St., Newton, MA 02458
617-244-3650
IFYI@coopmet.org, www.coopmet.org