DID YOU KNOW?
58% of all students receive financial aid

The average financial aid package is $48,535

Amherst was one of the first colleges in the country to adopt a no-loan policy.

Students are able to graduate with no Amherst debt.

Affordability and accessibility are top priorities for Amherst, and, as a result, we are leading the way by providing generous financial aid for the best and brightest students, regardless of their ability to pay.

Alumni support is a vital source of financial aid. Each year, alumni, parents, and friends contribute more than $10 million to the Annual Fund. Gifts of all sizes, from alumni of all generations, become a powerful force in making an Amherst education possible for today’s students.

The average financial aid package is $48,535.

Last year gifts of $100 and less added up to allow more than seven students to attend Amherst on average financial aid packages.

Amherst was one of the first colleges in the country to adopt a no-loan policy.

Students are able to graduate with no Amherst debt.

2015 marks the 50th year of Amherst’s need blind admissions policy.

U.S. higher learning institutions that are need blind and meet full demonstrated need for all students, including international, and the only liberal arts college of only five of all students, including international, funded by endowed aid.

Please consider joining your fellow alumni in making a gift to the Annual Fund—and help Amherst stay accessible for future generations.
