

Geology Department Newsletter

November 30, 2022

GEO-111 field trip to Holyoke Dinosaur Tracks

News from the Geology Department:

Upcoming December Events:

- TGIRx this week: Fiona Anstey, Ruth Zuraw, and Sophia Price at 1:30 PM in BEBU311
- TGiRx on Friday, December 9: Guest speaker and alum, Caroline Needell '22 will talk about post-grad lab tech and grad school/NSF-GRFP
- SAVE the date: Monday, December 12 – Geology Department Annual Holiday Celebration with a pizza party at 12:00. Mandatory majors meeting in BEBU 311 at 11:30

Internships, Opportunities and Graduate Schools:

- Monday, December 5: Join Carolyn Margolin, Program Director, Amherst Career in Science & Technology from the LOEB Center and the STEM Sibbs for an introduction to the world of STEM Internships at 7:00 pm in Lipton Lecture Hall \(Room E110\), Science Center.
- Wednesday, December 7: Finding & applying for summer undergraduate science research opportunities. Join representatives from the Amherst College affiliated "Center for Oldest Ice" for a virtual workshop at 1:30 pm Pacific on Zoom.

Internships, Opportunities and Graduate Schools:

- The School of Earth Systems and Sustainability at SIU offers a 6 week summer field geology course conducted in the mountains and basins of Montana and Wyoming. This course provides a unique opportunity to acquire a strong training in geology field methods.
 - Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education geology field experience.
 - Geology Department Opportunity and Resources.
 - Office of Sustainability opportunities database.
-

Photos from Victor in Nepal doing research work:

