Carolyn Dufraine graduated Magna Cum Laude from Westfield State University in 2018 with a degree in trombone performance and studied under Timothy Atherton. Earned a master's degree in trombone performance at UMass Amherst, studying under Gregory Spiridopoulos. She found her passion for music in middle school, listening to great musicians like JJ Johnson, Art Blakey and Dizzy Gillespie. Learning to play trombone in middle and high school sparked joy for her, and she pushed her performance to the highest level, performing at the Newport Jazz Festival with Massachusetts All-State Band. With the help of inspiring teachers, she continued studying music in college and began to teach students of her own. Currently, Carolyn plays with The Lucky Five, Shokazoba, Closing Time and the Amherst College Jazz Ensemble, in addition to performing with the UMass Jazz Ensemble, Orchestra, and Wind Ensemble. She has also been involved with several local theatre productions, including the Exit 7 theatre company. Her stylistic repertoire ranges from classical music to funk, jazz, rock, and pop.

The Lucky 5 is a hard-swinging jazz band that blends swing and gypsy jazz to create a unique, foot-stomping blend of music that appeals to a wide range of music lovers. The Lucky 5 performs both original compositions as well as putting a new spin on old jazz standards. The band is comprised of highly seasoned touring musicians, having been part of The Hunger Mountain Boys, Lauren Ambrose & The Leisure Class, and traveled, performed and recorded with artists such as Peter Gabriel, Tony Bennett, Neko Case, Iris Dement, Bobby Previte, Del McCoury, Jim Lauderdale, just to name a few. The Lucky 5 brings verve, high energy, and an unpredictable impulse to the tradition of jazz from the 20's, 30's and 40's, grooving deeply, and keeping feet moving on the dance floor.
